Film and Genocide

Film and Genocide

Film and Genocide brings together scholars of film and of genocide to discuss film representations, both fictional and documentary, of the Holocaust, the Armenian genocide, and genocides in Chile, Australia, Rwanda, and the United States. Since 1955, when Alain Resnais created his experimental documentary Night and Fog about the Nazis' mass killings of Jews and other ostracized groups, filmmakers have struggled with using this medium to tell such difficult stories, to re-create the sociopolitical contexts of genocide, and to urge awareness and action among viewers. This volume looks at such issues as realism versus fiction, the challenge of depicting atrocities in a manner palatable to spectators and film distributors, the Holocaust film as a model for films about other genocides, and the role of new technologies in disseminating films about genocide.

Film and Genocide also includes interviews with three film directors, who discuss their experiences in working with deeply disturbing images and bringing hidden stories to life: Irek Dobrowolski, director of The Portraitist (2005) a documentary about Wilhelm Brasse, an Auschwitz-Birkenau prisoner ordered to take more than 40,000 photos at the camp; Nick Hughes, director of 100 Days (2005) a dramatic film about the Rwandan mass killings; and Greg Barker, director of Ghosts of Rwanda (2004), a television documentary for Frontline.

As a university student exactly feel bored to be able to reading. If their teacher requested them to go to the library as well as to make summary for some guide, they are complained. Just tiny students that has reading's internal or real their interest. They just do what the instructor want, like asked to the library. They go to generally there but nothing reading critically. Any students feel that looking at is not important, boring and also can't see colorful pics on there. Yeah, it is to be complicated. Book is very important for you. As we know that on this time, many ways to get whatever we would like. Likewise word says, ways to reach Chinese's country. Therefore , this Film and Genocide can make you sense more interested to read.
