Freedom to Be Whole Again! Too often, believers settle for much less than what they have access to in Christ--complete emotional and physical healing, as well as peace of mind. The Word teaches that salvation brings wholeness to the body of Christ. But it does not come automatically. In order to receive the gift of wholeness that was purchased for us on Calvary, we must allow Christ to restore the loss we have suffered through our own sin, as well as the sins others have committed against us. We must address all hindrances to healing, such as emotional pain, a pharisaical spirit, and an orphan spirit. The church must stand as an example of Christ's redeeming work on the cross. And the only way to do this is to restore what has been lost. By turning from our sin and releasing all unforgiveness and bitterness, we can walk in the freedom of forgiveness and wholeness. No one is too far gone; all believers can experience the grace of Jesus Christ and walk as victors instead of victims!
